Super '79 Staff Flies High

Years separate souls
Forgotten memories locked away in dusty albums
Reminiscing only when old faces appear by you
Only to be dismissed once they're gone
Sadness caused through the passing
A yearning to be back again;
to the high school years
Familiar places; with friendly faces
When lovers looked like perfect matches
Believing they'll remain together, forever.

When we felt like everyone was on our backs Yelling here and there for this and that.
But the truth of knowing we never really got in trouble at all
Somewhere there's a dusty yearbook, packed away.

Whose pictures hold lost memories Our children will search its pages in years to come

Laughing at their parents' pictures
While through their laughter we fade away
to those days;

Which we prayed would end but wish them back again, through the years.

Anchor Weighs Up ...

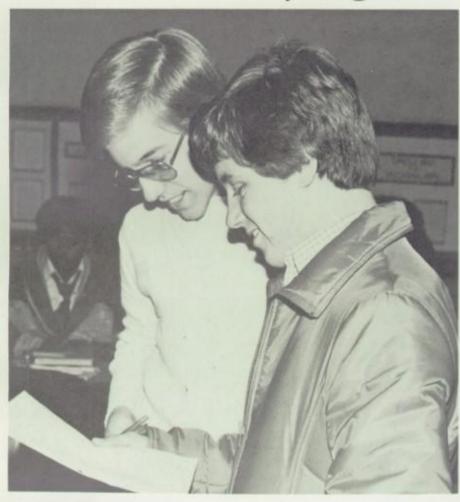

Marshall's Anchor Club is an organization which participates in volunteer work at hospitals, convalesent homes and school functions. During the 1978-79 school year the service club was involved in many activities, such as, sending homemade Easter cards and flowers to old folks homes, serving refreshments at school activities, and white elephant sales, in addition to sponsoring several bake sales.

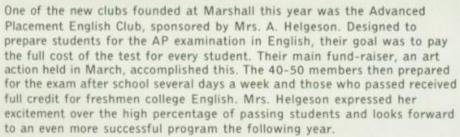

Analyzing Advanced Placement

Cloning Around

Meeting every other Monday, the Science Club awakened and promoted a student interest in science and its related fields. Through a hike to Henniger Flats, lectures on the possibility of "extraterrestial life" and a field trip to the renowned Institute of Marine Biology in San Diego, the members gained notable out-of-classroom experiences. Sponsored by Mr. Alam, this active club also held a successful pen sale and paper drive to finance their activities.

Marshall's 1978-79 Photography Club was perhaps one of this school's most productive clubs, ever striving to attain the highest degree of perfection. Sponsored by Mr. Martinet, the club experimented with capturing the dimensions of time and space, thus enhancing their creativity. New concepts were also used to explore and develop the ability of each member.

Forensic Society Debates

Marshall's Forensic Society debated in May against La Canada High School on the topic of "Changing Rights". They also debated "National Health" in Marshall's auditorium.

The Society's 1978-79 president was Arda Lisa Halebian. The Forensic Society became an official member of the California League of Debators this year and was led by its advisor, Mrs. D.B. Moorman, through its fourth consecutive year.

C.S.F. Strikes Gold

The California Scholarship Federation is an organization which rewards students for their high academic achievements during high school.

Marshall's CSF Chapter convened in September with the greatest turnout ever witnessed.

Membership in CSF is absolutely voluntary and must be obtained at least four semesters during one's Sophomore, Junior and Senior year to qualify for Gold Seal Bearership. A CSF Gold Seal Bearer receives a special gold seal on his diploma as a symbol of his outstanding scholastic accomplishment in high school, as well as the privilege of wearing a gold cord during the graduation ceremony.

CSF undertook three major activities during the year. The members visited and toured the local college campuses of U.C. Irvine and Whittier College. CSF also sponsored a Christmas gram sale in which CSF processed and delivered over 1,000 candy grams. In addition, the annual CSF dessert in June honored the graduating CSF Seniors.

Strike One Up — For the Bowling Club

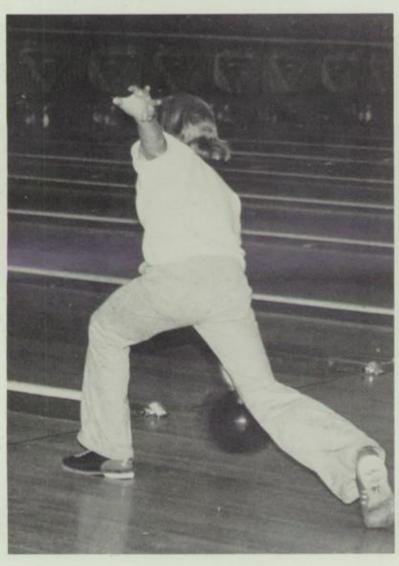

Spares and strikes littered the lanes as Marshall's Bowling Club got into action this year. Every Friday after school some of the 25 revolving members met at the local Bahama Lanes to bowl their quota of three games.

Organized by President Lisa Anhalt, the club provided a chance to improve bowling averages, as well as develop coordination, supply recreation, and offer a non-academic link between students.

Sponsor Mrs. Melendy processed the necessary paperwork, as the members went to "Brooklyn!"

Mark Cassell and Maribel Ramirez bowl while other members look on.

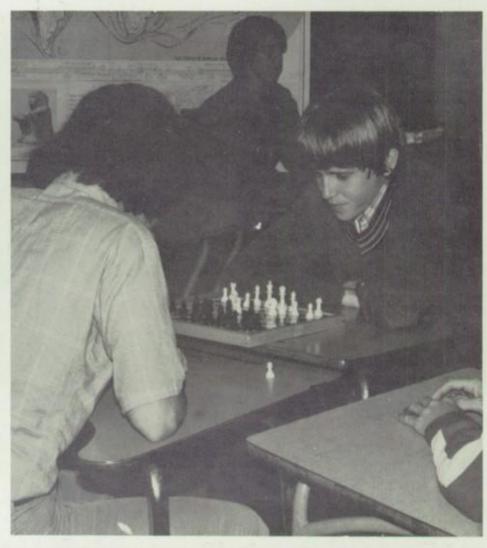

The Chess Club Checks Out

"Checkmate" was the call of victory often heard in Room 135 during Chess Club meetings.

Members met not only formally on Fridays, but informally throughout the week to match mind against mind, as they moved up the ladder in the spirited inner-club competition.

While playing this strategic game of kings and queens, knights and bishops, students sharpened their mental abilities by plotting and making decisive moves.

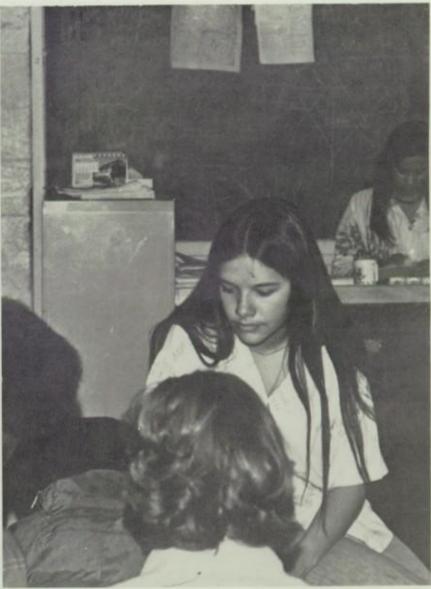

CHECKMATE!

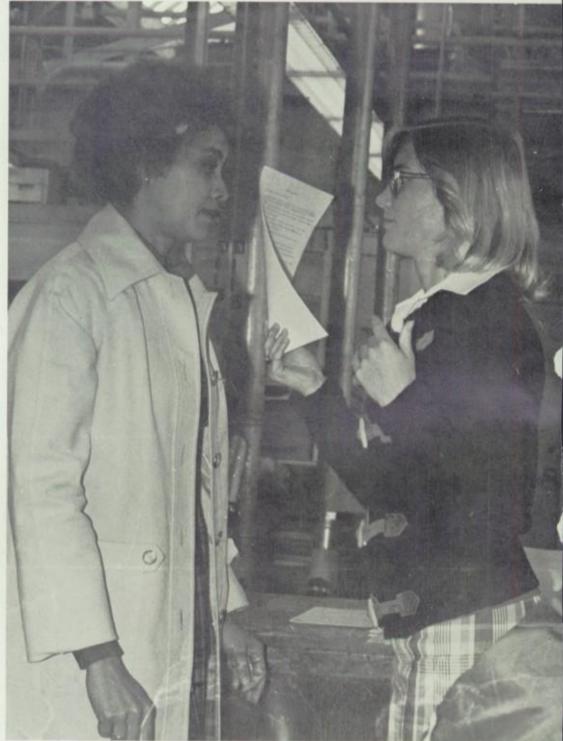

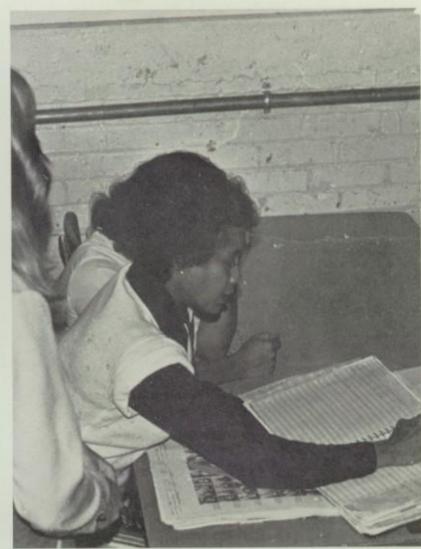

WRITE ON!

Yearbook and Journalism are very special classes. In them you can expect to give your all whenever it is needed. You've got to have patience and lots of energy and ideas. Your co-workers are your lifeline to sanity and success. And necessary are some of the same basic fundamentals required of an athlete: drive, spirit, ability, and the willingness to put in long hours of hard work.

The Yearbook editors tried, in compiling this edition, to capture the year in its entirety. We hope "Super '79, Flying High," will hold for you the memories of a year and time that can never come again.

Good luck to one and all, from the Yearbook staff, who cared enough to give you their very best!

Key Club Unlocks Service at Marshall

John Marshall's Key Club was founded four years ago and has since grown into the school's most active club. Key Club members are dedicated to promoting school activities and serving the community. Our Key Club is supported by the Pasadena Kiwanis Club. Some of our projects for the 1978-9 school year were the Beatle Fever Concert; a day at Disneyland with handicapped students; and helping orphans down in Mexico. We also help our Kiwanis Club in their annual Rose Bowl Kickoff Luncheon, aid them in their search for high blood pressure victims, as well as assisting them in blood drives for the Red Cross.

Key Club members enjoy serving the community and helping other people. We are proud of our accomplishments and will continue to do our best.

CLUBS AND ACTIVITIES

Clubs and activities are a vital part of any school and the students that comprise it. They offer expansion into new, unexplored areas, as well as developing or perfecting a skill of interest.

Some are especially designed to raise school spirit. Some, to provide further experiences not usually found in the classroom. And others just to be fun and entertaining.

But, all of these extra-curricular activities are a great way to become involved in the special school life of Marshall high.

With Wings Like Eagles

In 1977 Marshall started a reign of domination in the Delphic Track League which we hope will continue.

The 78-79 season began in Feb. at the prestigious Sunkist Invitational in which the Marshall boys' track team did extremely well. In March the Eagle boys went on to set two school records against the defending state champ, P.H.S. Marshall's relay team ran a blazing 43.5 in the 440, and then speedster David Yeargin became the first from our school to run 9.7 in the 100-yard dash.

The 1979 girls' track team was to date, the best Marshall had ever produced. After several postponed meets, the girls were finally and successfully off and running. A great boost to the team's morale was the addition of several experienced runners and two new AAU sprinters.

Coaches D. Golson and P. Bodenshot contributed greatly in getting the track teams off the ground, sprinting toward the championships.

J.V.'s Steal Home

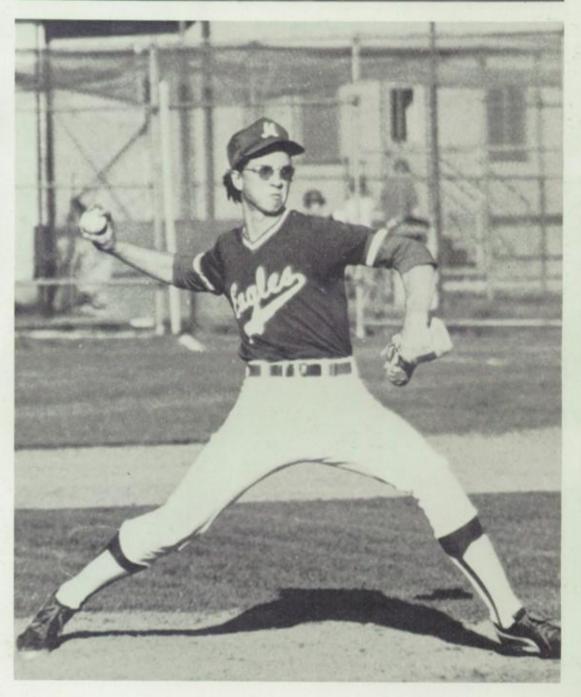

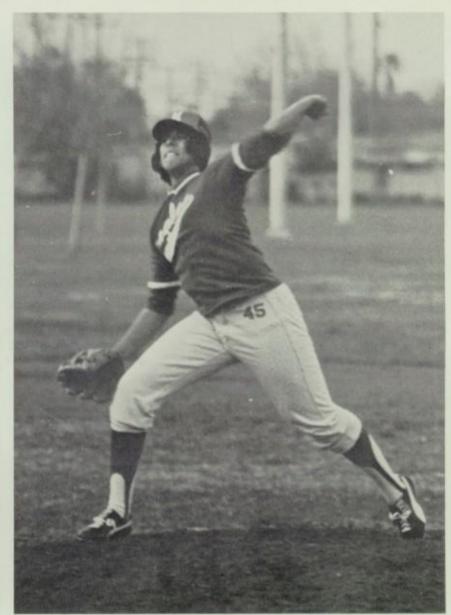

A much improved baseball team entered their second year of competition in high spirits. As Coach Riecke predicted, they were "100% better, and would win quite a bit of the games." And so they did, even though the Eagles were matched against such experienced teams as Montclair, Brentwood, Pasadena Poly and Western Christian. Co-Coach Lindbolm can take great pride in this year's baseball showing.

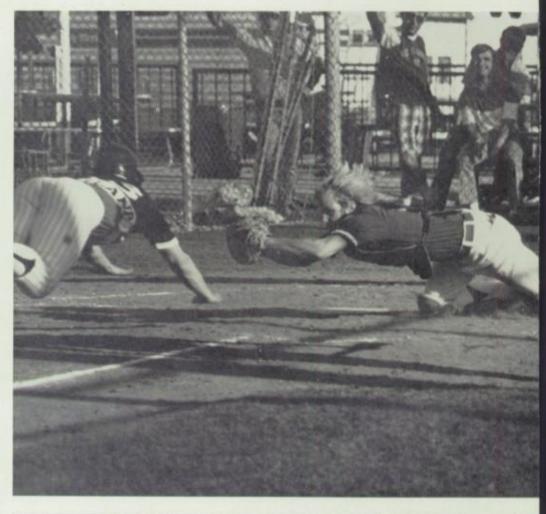

Eagles Hit It Home

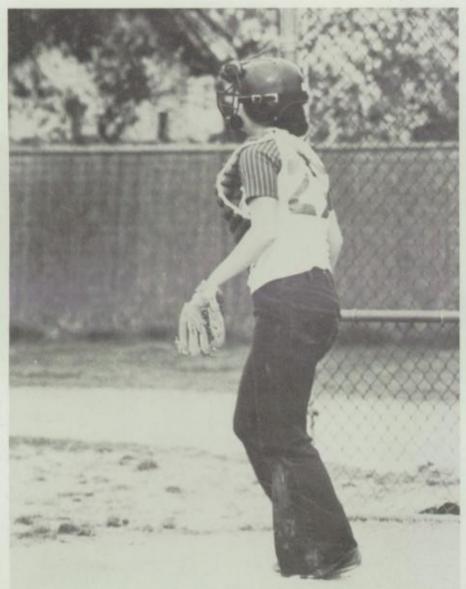

Eagles On The Fly

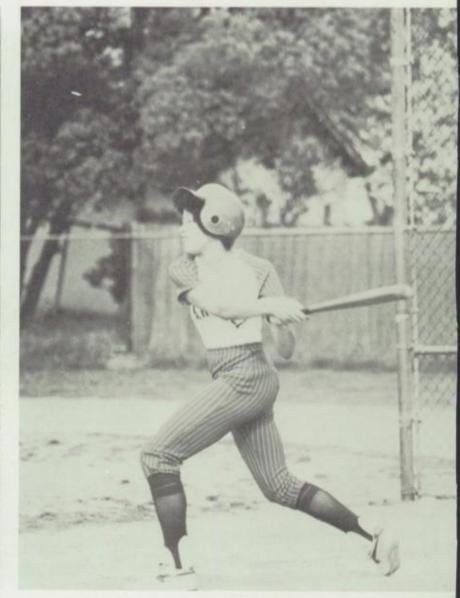

This year's girls' softball team began the season behind schedule, yet this did not deter them from their pursuit of the league championship.

Stressing defense, as well as offense, put the team in good position and batting and fielding workouts were held to improve these two areas.

Then, with new uniforms plus the confidence gained from long practice, the Eagle's softball team was eager to face this year's opponents.

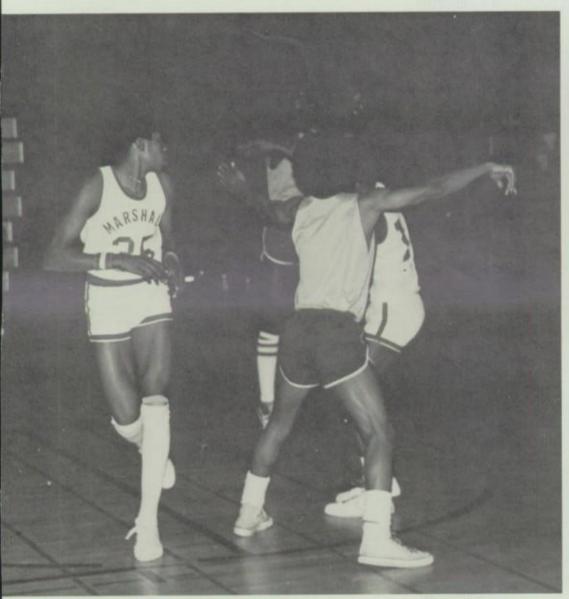

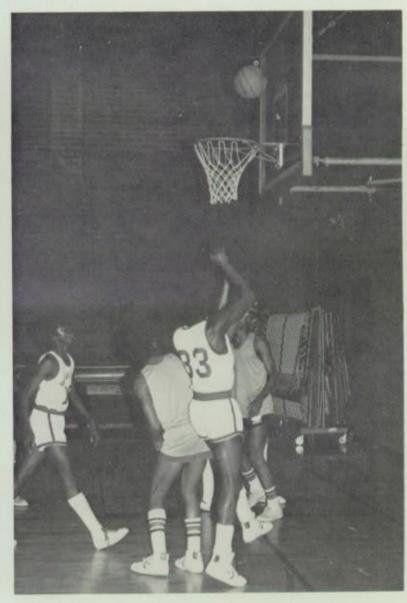

J.V.'s Excel

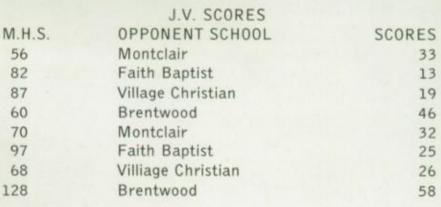

Marshall's J.V. Boys team seized the Delphic League Junior Varsity Championship for the third straight year. Going undefeated in league play, their overall record was 11-1, the only loss went to Blair in the last four seconds of play (48-50). Throughout the season they kept a minimum 20 point winning spread over such rivals as Montclair and Brentwood.

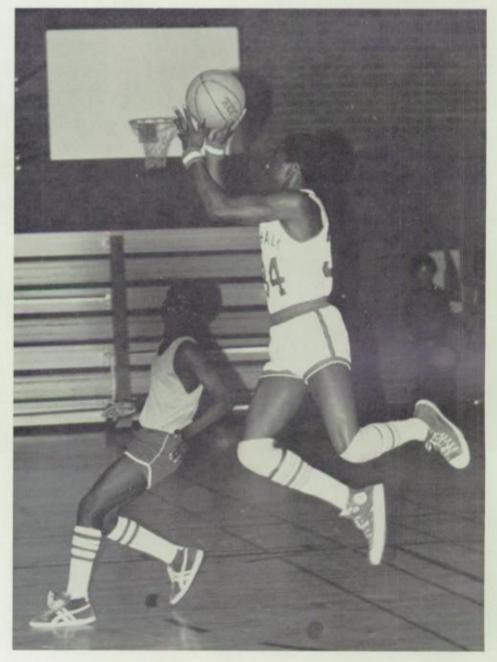

Three J.V. players, Terry Large, LaMont Williams and Lyle Quishenberry moved up into the Varsity Squad for the C.I.F. playoffs.

Taking second place in the Delphic League, the Boys' Varsity Basketball Team with an 8-2 record, advanced to the C.I.F. playoffs, losing out only to undefeated Montclair.

Coach Ellis' relatively new squad was led by center Derek Daniels. Seniors Kenny Tucker and Billy McCloud led the defense with consistently high scoring, while the other players gained experience and speed, both of which will prove valuable in future competition.

Although their overall record was not as impressive as those of previous years, Marshall's Varsity has a definite chance of winning the playoffs.

J.V.'s Shine

Although the 1978-79 Marshall Girls' Junior Varsity Team was composed mainly of freshman, it ended a successful season by winning the J.V. Delphic League Championship. With a league 8-0 record, the team completed the overall season undefeated, 10-0.

The players scored a total of 513 points, and established an average winning spread of a whopping 38 points.

With all the experience gained this year, an important goal for girl's basketball in the future is to, with devotion and organization, bring out individual talents, and in putting them together, create a squad to continue to hold the No. 1 spot.

Their very able coach, Mrs. Alice Smith, summed up the season: "It was a pleasure to work with this dedicated group of girls. Many should contribute a great deal to Marshall's basketball future."

Varsity Dribbles and Hooks the Playoffs!

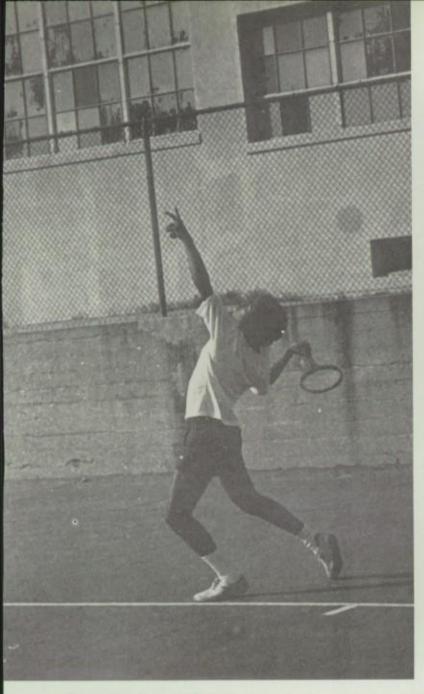

The Girls Varsity Team surged ahead this year to capture the Delphic League Championship and a place in the C.I.F. Girls Basketball playoffs.

The Eagles also made their way into the C.I.F. record book for the first time by being the third school to score over 100 points (101-4 Montclair) and by gaining second place in the fewest points allowed to an opposing team (101-4). Headed by the Delphic League Player of the year, Angie Potter, who averaged better than 28 points per game (most likely yet another C.I.F. record), Marshall's team ranked number one and is a serious contender for the C.I.F. Championship.

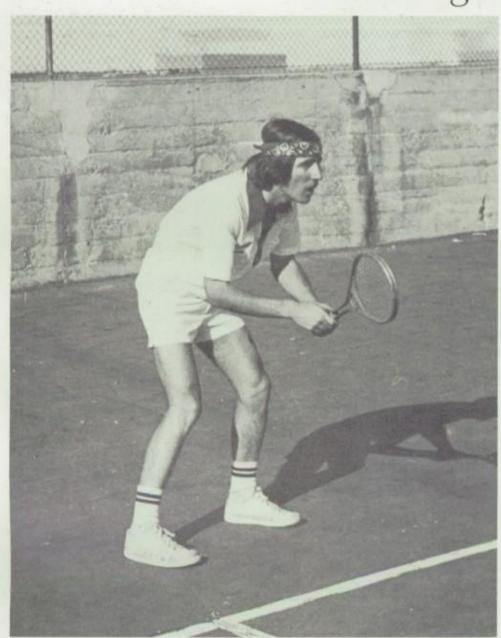

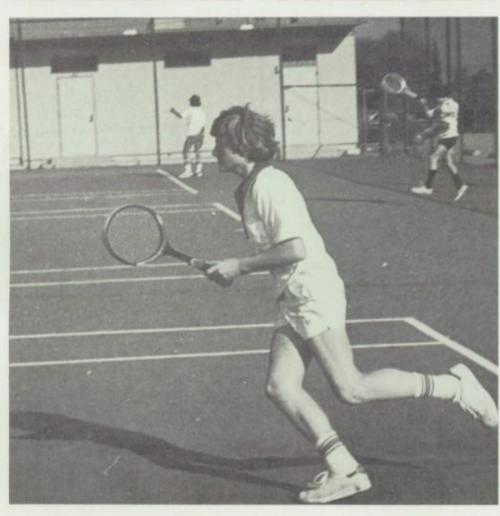

"Great Expectations" was the general forecast for this year's boy's tennis team, and they lived up to it in the opening rounds of competition. Coached by G. O'Neill, they practiced their forehands and backhands while sharpening their concentration, reflexes and speed. They then began "serving it up" to Montclair and Brentwood the teams that defeated Marshall last year. The improvement seen thus far has been tremendous, and we have high hopes for future meets and the C.I.F. playoffs.

DIFFERENT STROKES FOR DIFFERENT FOLKS

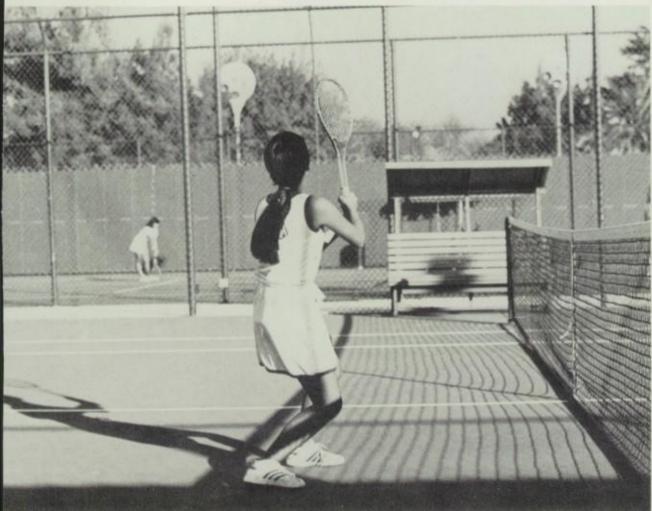

Swim team members limber up before a meet.

A pool of glistening water isn't much, but to a swimmer it represents vast challenges. Season after season, swimmers churn down their allotted lanes striving to improve their performance.

Although the 78-79 swim team found the odds of winning to be great, they found victory even sweeter, and the sting of defeat, a rewarding challenge. The swim team members were devoted to the goal of demonstrating outstanding sportsmanship through determination and quality effort.

"Marshall's Girls Tennis Team has improved 100% over last year," said one player. The girls really worked hard to complete a truly excellent season for a team that is barely a year old. Under the direction of Miss Michelle Smith, the girls have been putting in several hours of practice each day. Because of our school's size and newness in C.I.F. girls tennis competition, Marshall must compete against several private schools whose main emphasis is on tennis. Among the extremely tough competition are such top ranking teams as Westridge, Mayfield, and Buckley. But, this season, Marshall walked off the courts victorious in many matches. This year the girl's tennis team can confidently deliver the challenge, "Tennis anyone?"

OVER-ALL RECORD 5-6-3

THAT'S USING YOUR HEAD!

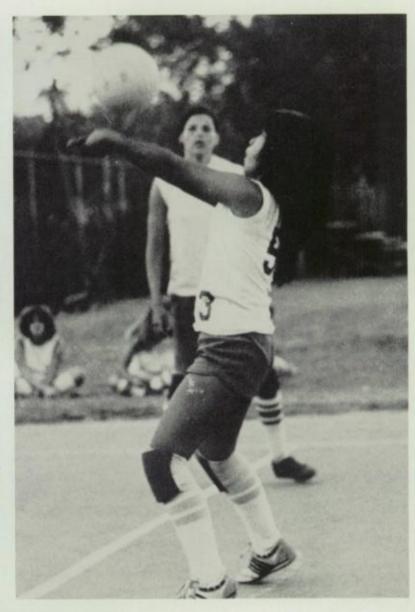

The song, "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head", floated across the empty bleachers as the Marshall soccer team endeavored to play out the game. Striving always to improve their performance, the team has demonstrated great potential. But, plagued by numerous troubles, such as the loss of star players returning home to their native country, and a rained out, mudsplattered, postponed season their record was not as impressive as hoped for.

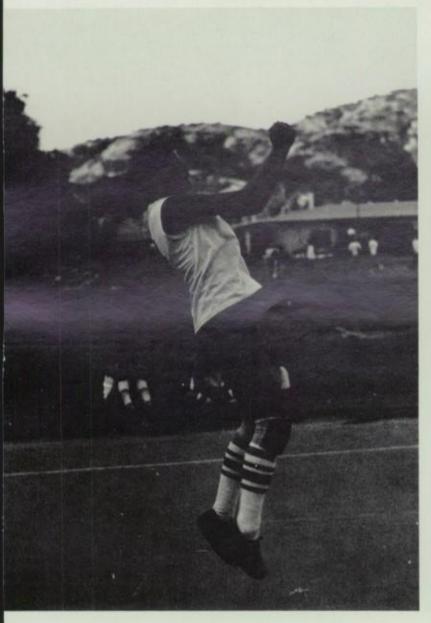

However, having benefited from this season's experience, Coach Hasseler has high expectations for the coming year.

LET'S VOLLEY!

Front Row (L to R): Pat Hampton, Michelle Anderson, Camille Brantley, Marylyn Wiebe. Back Row (L to R): Debbie Fischer, Dollie Attakai, Kathy Nelson, Charlotte Johnson and Coach Ellis.

The varsity volleyball team, coached by Mr. Wayne Ellis, showed great improvement over last year with spectacular smashes, bumps and spikes. Just missing out on the playoffs, with a 12-8 record, the varsity volleyball team victoriously defeated such rivals as Argyll and Village Christian. The J.V. squad also made a tremendous effort to bring their season's record to 6-8, thus displaying great sportsmanship and teamwork.

HOMECOMING'78

Cheerleaders ran about at the last minute practicing their routines, the dance committee hurriedly finished their decorating, while the football team listened religiously to the coach. But the crowning event of Marshall's Homecoming was the installation of the 1978 Homecoming Court. The excitement of winning the game against Village Christian by a wide margin kindled hopes for making the C.I.F. playoffs. That night's Homecoming Dance, "Come Together", highlighted the Homecoming Week festivities.

This year the 1978 Marshall Junior Varsity football team captured its third Delphic League Crown and also had its first undefeated season!

The J.V. team, led by All-League backs Greg Butts and Randy Heltsly, finished the season 8-0, and established one of the leagues premier defenses. Under the instruction of coaches Lauritson and Sanders, they easily defeated every team they played. Perhaps the most challenging game was against Newport Liberty, which they won, 16-0.

The strength demonstrated on behalf of Marshall's J.V. football has given us high hopes for the coming years. Next year we are looking forward to seeing Marshall's Junior Varsity football team capture their fourth Delphic League championship!

VARSITY GRIDDERS ROMP

The 1978-79 varsity football team was dedicated to one thing, "winning." The team's dedication paid off as they ended the season with a 4-0-1 record. However, the team's dream and goal of capturing a C.I.F. Eight-man Championship was shattered on a cold, moonlit Friday night when they lost a semi-championship game to the Coast Union Broncos.

Varsity football began its season with a sixteen to six victory over Pacifica Christian. We then went through two easy non-league victories over Heritage 45-0 and Calvary 35-0.

The beginning of league play resulted in a 20-20 tie with Brentwood. After that the team had to face the favorites of our Delphic League, the San Fernando Valley Knights. But we kept our poise and tied the score at six a piece on a one-yard burst from Billy McCloud. Our offense put together an attack that scored 12 points and we emerged victorious with a score of 26-20 and a first place in the Delphic League. The rest of our league games were relatively easy with victories over Village Christian 36-0, Montclair 45-0, and Faith Baptist at 50-0. We ended the regular season in first place. In our first play-off game, we played host to American Christian and defeated them 59-0. That victory placed us into a game against last year's C.I.F. champion, the Rio Hondo Kares. Both defenses played stingily, but we shut-out the Kares by an 18-0 score.

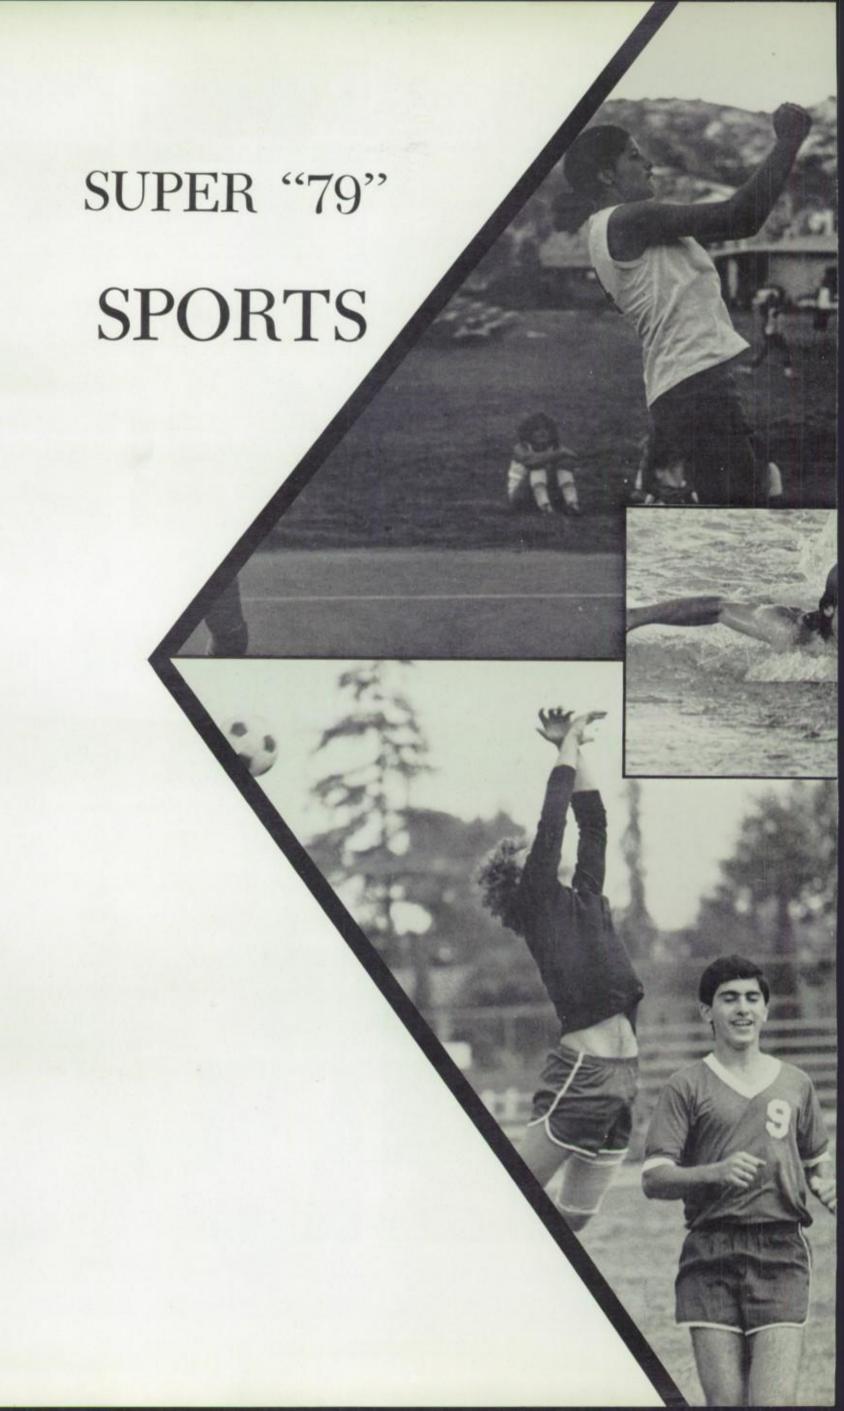

There were only 4 teams out of 16 left in the playoffs. Our dream of a C.I.F. Championship was slowly becoming a reality.

Our next encounter was against the number-one-rated Coast Union Broncos. The game began as an offensive battle. At the end of the first half, the score was 21-12, Broncos leading. The Broncos came out in the third quarter just as hot and made the score 40-12. Things looked dim for the Eagles, but they held together and made an overwhelming 4th quarter surge to score 24 points and make the score 38-40 with two minutes left to play. The Broncos then ended the Eagle's dream with a 46-yard touchdown bomb.

That was the end of our dream, and our season.

The Los Angeles Regional Occupational Program (R.O.P.) provides youths and adults with a program which will increase and enrich their job skills. (It, however, is not an unemployment office.) Courses range from transportation and agriculture to engineering and health services, with the actual classroom being banks, stores, laboratories, hospitals, and child care centers. The students receive school credit for their work, as well as gaining up-to-date skills, a knowledge of an industry, and an influential reference for job applications.

For students headed for college, R.O.P. can pay some of the expenses while being an introduction into their chosen field of study.

Little heard about at Marshall but yet a very important part of the academic program, is the Department of Special Learning. This program provides fundamental classes which stress the principles of English, math, reading and social science. These classes try to provide students with a solid educational basis upon which they can build their future. This basic approach to teaching was a worthwhile effort on the behalf of both the students and teachers alike . . . For some, it is the difference between an education and dropping out of school.

Mr. L. York

Lectures, lectures, and more lectures on everything from the Phoenicians to Far Eastern rice paddies and today's legislation, were delivered this year.

Notetaking was par for the course.

Social Science, the study of the world's people, religions, and environments, conjures up for many individuals visions of long-winded lectures, maps, memorizing, or just plain day-dreaming. Yet, to many of Marshall's students, it is a study of the past . . . a recollection of the wars, conflicts and birth pangs of our nation and the world's.

A Social Science course employs a special kind of instructor whose understanding and knowledge in the areas of World Geography, U.S. History, U.S. Government, Behaviorial Science, and Economics, must be extensive.

This year this department tried harder than ever to convey the knowledge of yesterday as painlessly as possible to the young people of today. With a greater emphasis placed on individual abilities and needs, the Social Science Department helped students to realize their full potential, thus enhancing their character and creativity.

Modern Science a combination of both the old and new technological advances of today, provides the classroom in which Marshall's students can learn. With a selection of courses ranging from Biology, Chemistry, Physics and Physiology, students can learn about themselves and the world in which they live.

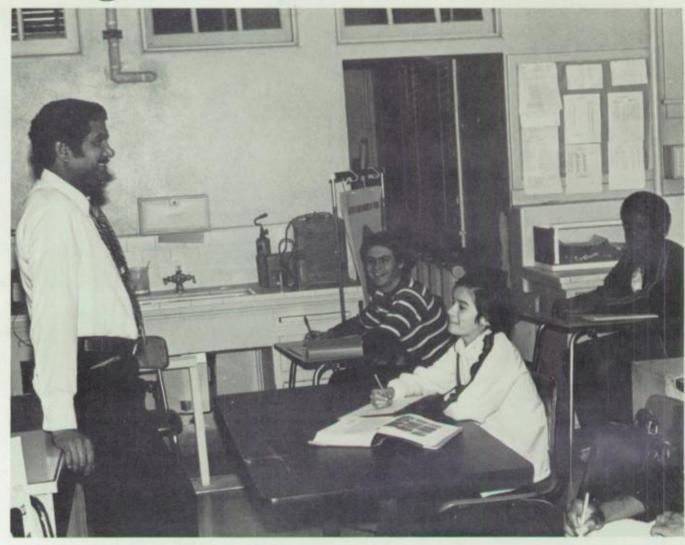

Through many hours of hard work, and study, each student was able to grasp in greater understanding our complex science of today. Yet, the guidance, encouragement and instruction given by each of the science teachers, is what truly made 78-79 one of the best years Marshall's Science Department has ever had!

Physical Education demands the coordination of a physically fit body. Here at Marshall the Physical Education classes are meant to build, strengthen and develop each student mentally and physically. Through participation in all areas of the P.E. Department each individual established a feeling of self-accomplishment in himself and in his fellow teammates. Not only was it important for each student to strive to achieve a higher level of physical fitness, but work together to create an atmosphere of learning, fun and enjoyment.

All Play ... No Work?

Mr. P. Bodenshot

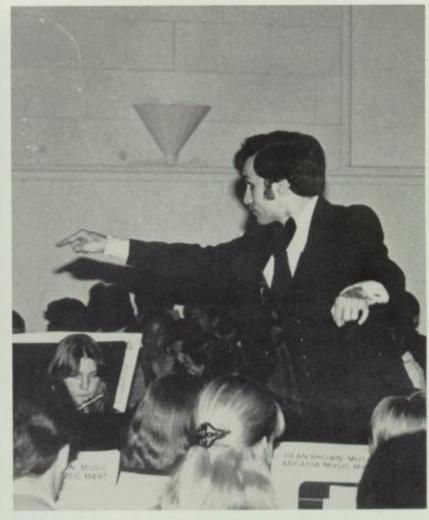

Ms. D. Gholson

If music be the food of love, play on;

Give me excess of it, that, surfeiting,

The appetite may sicken, and so die.

That strain again! it had a dying fall:

O, it came o're my ear like a sweet sound,

That breathes upon a bank of violets

Stealing and giving odour! Enough: no more:

'Tis not so sweet now as it was before.

O spirit of love! how quick and fresh art thou,

That, notwithstanding thy capacity

Receiveth as the sea, nought enters there,

Of validity and pitch soe'er, But falls into abatement and low price, Even in a minute: so full of shapes is fancy That it alone is high fantastical.

Music requires practice before the rehearsal begins. Often day to day practice is relieved by light humorous moments. Mrs. Stanton resumes the task of directing while the Drama class gets ready for casting.

Whether Beethoven, Star Wars or Dixie jazz, Marshall's Music Department, during the school year captured our spirits and imaginations. Under the direction of Mr. Kent Burke, the program has grown to include a marching band, acapella choir, mixed chorus, orchestra, and guitar. The Music Department, in addition to demonstrating outstanding musical talent, served as an avenue through which our school's spirit was boosted. Great talent was also demonstrated by Marshall's enthusiastic Drama Department. After many long hours of coaching and directing by Mrs. E. Stanton, the Drama Department produced during the spring semester, two memorable plays entitled, "Arsenic and Old Lace" and "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown." With the use of illusion and the stage, our Drama Department has given us insights into reality through many entertaining moments.

Whether working with 2 + 4 or x, y, and z, it all added up for Marshall's Math Department. One main objective of this department, which teaches an exact and often bewildering science, is to impart to students the importance of logical, mathematical reasoning.

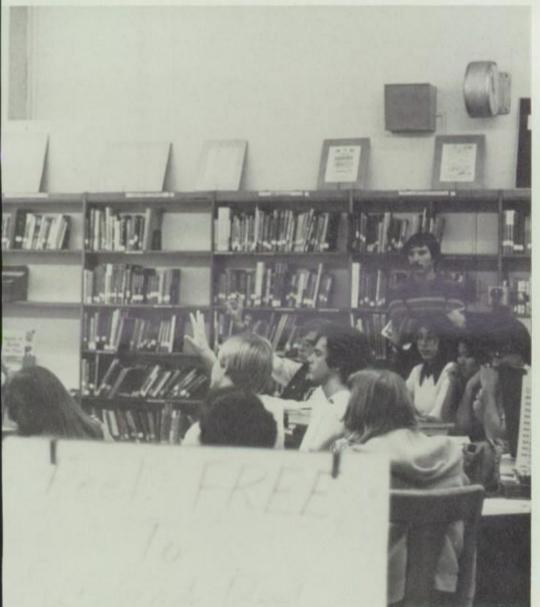

During the present school year, focus was directed on increasing the students' scores on Proficiency and Achievement tests, in addition to the C.T.B.S. and S.A.T.

It was not, however, the aim of the teachers to control the minds of students, but an "attempt to make math interesting enough, so that they will want to learn." This outstanding staff, while helping Marshallites to grow emotionally and intellectually, expected them to master the subject matter, achieve good study habits and grow in self-discipline. All are important attributes for those who wish to go far.

The library is a room which houses a collection of books, manuscripts, and literary materials for study, or reading. Ours also has a collection of paintings, musical recordings, photographs, maps, films, slides, and cassettes that are kept for convenience in study and enjoyment.

A school librarian's task is to care and manage the operation of a library. This involves ordering books, checking out materials to students and staff, and cataloging all incoming supplies. This is what Marshall's Library Science course is all about.

Using proper library procedures, this year's class of twenty Library Science students, gained experience both for future careers and credit.

Our English Department here at Marshall was one of the largest and strongest areas of our educational program. The great variety of teachers and classes was designated to suit the many needs of each individual student. In addition to an Advanced Placement class for those seniors interested in receiving college credit, Marshall offered both gifted and remedial classes, giving equal and fair attention to all students, regardless of their academic standing.

Though the English Department stressed the fundamentals of modern language, its primary goal this year was to strive towards teaching students to think both creatively and individually. This was accomplished through the composition of poetry, the writing of short stories and plays, and the reading and analyzation of the classics.

It is through literature, and through the writings of man, that we can bridge the gap between the centuries, and reach out towards the future . . .

Driver's Education works to ensure safe, qualified drivers for the future. The teachers try to develop good defensive drivers, who realize their full necessary commitment in learning to drive. Health Education, included in the one semester course, imparts a general knowledge about good health with emphasis on drug abuse, first aid, and parts of the anatomy.

Driver's Training, tentatively offered for second semester, gave students actual behind-the-wheel experience. The twelve hour instruction is a requirement for obtaining a driver's license before the age of eighteen.

Making typewriter keys click and pencils scratch dictation is only one small part of the Business Department. Consumer Education students discuss prospects of future careers.

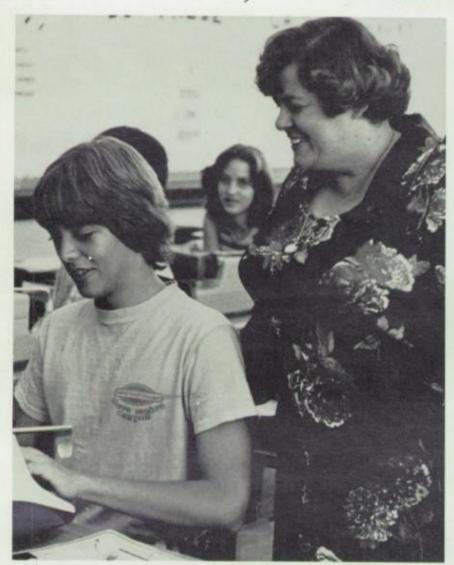

Business courses in school do not seem important until you are faced with your first job interview. Then, the courses of Accounting, Typing, Shorthand, and Office Experience take on new meaning. For those skills may be the ticket to new openings in the job market.

On the other hand, Consumer Education makes students more conscious of their rights and responsibilities as buyers and consumers. Special projects, such as researching major purchases and learning how to prepare income tax forms, provided practical and beneficial experience.

This year, because of the mounting cost of living, much stress was placed on this subject area. Growth in class size and courses offered proved the students' awareness of the increasing difficulties in getting into a career.

The Industrial and Creative Arts Department imparts skills that are pertinent to many vocations. Whether working with pottery, designing stage sets, or learning how to use industrial machines, every student discovered new abilities within himself.

Beyond teaching the basics; the instructors encouraged individual expression. This was especially true in cartooning and photography, as the students explored different techniques. A new approach was also introduced as the Sewing Department created an Open Clothing Lab. The new problems and successes encountered by the entire Industrial and Creative Arts Department is what made 1978-1979 such a super year.

What was so great about this year's counseling staff? "They were always there when you needed them" Thus, strength and experience combined, created one of Marshall's finest counseling teams ever.

In striving to understand our problems, the counselors advised, and guided us through the difficulties of programming. Putting major emphasis on the individual, they took time to talk to each student personally.

Our new staff of deans successfully maintained proper discipline this year and, at the same time, they felt "that the student has to be aware that we are understanding." This direction provided for a more open and relaxed learning atmosphere at Marshall.

1979 BOARD OF EDUCATION MEMBERS.

Principal, Mrs. Effie Sapp, takes control of Marshall with vast experience. Formerly, a teacher, counselor, dean of women, program director, and vice-principal and having worked at Blair, PHS, and Muir, she feels very comfortable in her latest challenging job. Her duties range from parent conferences, public relations, and student committees, to supervising a staff of 109, and being responsible for the entire school. Her goals are academic excellence and "to guarantee learning in an atmosphere free from disruption."

"I like to be out and around with the students," she said. But most of all, "I love people and I want us to feel like one big, happy family."

In regard to the graduating seniors, she said, "There is so much I want to tell them . . . we cannot make the world a better place unless we improve the individual. And to improve oneself you must have courage, love, faith, and understanding of your fellow man."

From a chat with Mrs. Effie S. Sapp, Principal, pictured right.

Our assistant principal in charge of student activities, is Mr. Dave Banis, formerly a Marshall teacher. His job includes being ASB advisor, scheduling all school events, and working with students on all school activities. He says, "If you're in charge of student activities, you have to know what their interests are and you can only find out by listening . . . talking, and understanding them." He has a great rapport with the Marshall Student Body.

Mr. D. Banis

Recently appointed as assistant principal of data processing, to replace Mr. Hurley, is Mr. Al Burt, former Principal of Sierra Mesa. He is in charge of all curriculum, supervising the staff and counselors, and making up the master schedule of classes. His job is a very important one, for without his expertise, our school would not have run as smoothly as it did.

ACADEMICS

Teacher's Prayer

I want to teach my students how To live life on earth-To face its struggles and its strife And how to improve their worth-Not just the lesson in a book On how the river flows-But how to choose the proper path Wherever they may go-To understand eternal truth And know the right from wrong-And gather all the beauty of A flower and a song-For if I help the world to grow In Wisdom and in grace-Then I shall feel that I have won And I have filled my place.

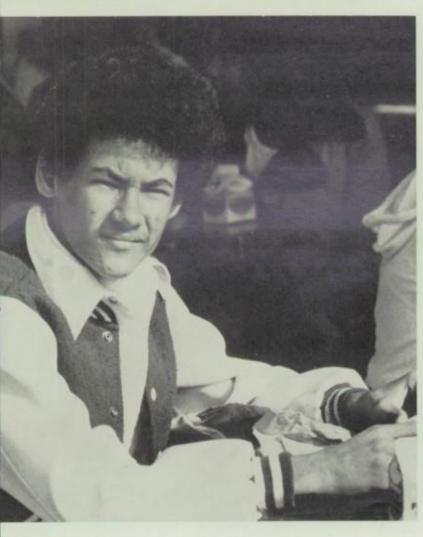

TO THE CLASS OF '82:

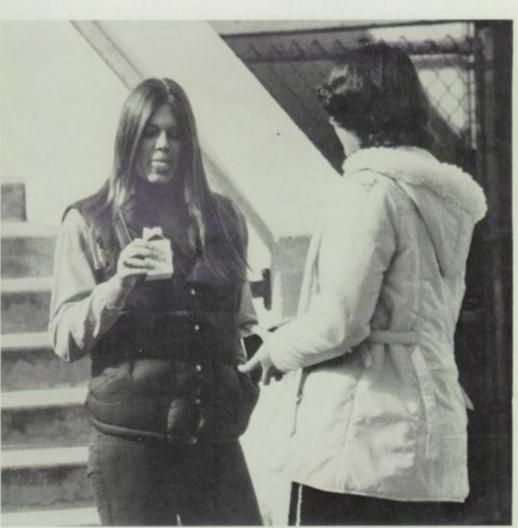

THE GIFT OF FRIENDSHIP

Friendship is a priceless gift
That cannot be bought or sold,
But its value is far greater than
A mountain made of gold.
For gold is cold and lifeless,
It can neither see nor hear,
And in a time of trouble
It is powerless to cheer.

It has no ears to listen
Nor heart to understand.
It cannot bring you comfort
Or reach out a helping hand.
So, when you ask God for a gift
Be thankful if he sends
Not diamonds, pearls or riches but
The love of real true friends.

Startin Out Now

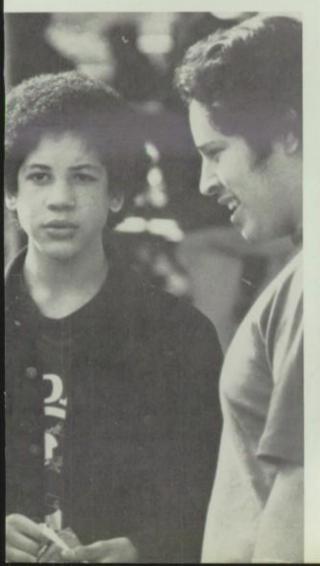

Our Freshmen class has contributed greatly to the spirit of our school. Fresh, eager, anticipating the long road ahead of them, they are just beginning to "come together."

As individuals, the ninth graders began to work, laugh, and "hangout" together.

Now, having reached the end of the year, the Class of '82 has undoubtedly benefited from this, its first high school year. And it is in them that the future of Marshall lies.

The industrious Sophomores of '79 demonstrated throughout the year many outstanding leadership abilities.

Through many hours of hard work both individually and collectively the class of 1981 proved very successful.

Willingness to accept direction and guidance from their teachers and class administrators, not only encouraged the entire Marshall's student body, but sent our school spirit "flying high".

They have not only excelled in academic achievements, but also in sport activities and in bringing more spirit to the school.

Their combined hard work and fun has earned them the envy of all other classes.

Workin so hard now ...

Underclassmen,

As you found after rising from your pre-high school education to your present achievement, the high school atmosphere was filled with relaxation, yet tension; an educational awakening.

Create your future by starting now, to strive for an identity in this time and age, because it's your life, so make the best of it.

Keep at peace with yourself or you will not be at peace with others. By being content with your accomplishments you establish the beginning of your future.

By maintaining individualism and conquering fierce competition, you will become the paragon of graduating classes of the future. You too will be Marshall's prospective legacies.

Strive upward in attaining your goals, and upon reaching them, "FLY HIGH".

Be strong!

We have hard work to do and loads to lift.
Shun not the struggle,—face it: 'tis God's gift.
Be strong!

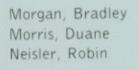

Say not the days are evil. Who's to blame?
And fold the hands and acquiesce,—O shame!
Stand up, speak out, and bravely, in God's name.

REFLECTIONS '79

As we leave the educational halls of Marshall and find our footsteps leading in wide and varied directions, we pause to ponder this—one of life's rare moments—High School Graduation.

Here we stand in June, 1979, the Senior Class—the Graduation Class—armed with twelve years of formal education, filled by understanding teachers and encouraged by friendships whose personalities will live on through the years. Fond memories will surround us as we go forward to set our individual and collective marks on this world.

We hope that we, the Senior Class, will leave worthwhile contributions to Marshall as it stands beneath the towering mountains, inspiring all of us to reach greater heights.

Fellow classmates,

As this school year comes to an end, I feel a great sense of accomplishment. The majority of us have been here at Marshall for the past several years. Together, we have experienced the "ups and downs" in the building of a small, unknown school to what it is today. But the greatest acheivement was our growing closer together and becoming very good friends.

Upon graduation, each one of us will go in different directions and seek new challenges. We must, however, never forget our classmates and hope that someday we will once again reunite.

Thank you for helping me in a very special way through your friendship and support. I will forever treasure these

GRADUATION—A New Beginning For The Future

The future holds a bright new horizon for all of us and with anticipation and excitement we can take one more step toward the close of our Senior year at Marshall and with it, we'll unite a retrospect of fond memories that will remain with us throughout time.

We will remember a deep sense of pride and achievement with each victory and the solemnity of every defeat, that will bring together the everlasting friendship with our peers and faculty that we have built strong at Marshall.

As we begin to break the ties between high school and the future, we begin with new hope and a prayer for strength and determination that will guide us throughout our lives.

Gonna fly now ...

When you walk through a storm Keep your head up high And don't be afraid of the dark.

At the end of the storm
Is a golden light
And the sweet, silver song
Of a lark.

Walk on through the wind
Walk on through the rain
Though your dreams be tossed and turned.

Walk on, walk on
With hope in your heart
And you'll never walk alone . . .

Stand tall with humility
Be aggressive with tenderness
Seek truth with an open mind
Be adventuresome with responsibility
Offer friendship with understanding and love

And above all,
Walk in the grace of God.

FLYING HIGH

Greatness is to meet the struggle,
To fall and still climb high.
The spirit, the endeavor to Pursue the path and try.

As the eagle bold in the sky, Soars upward, flying high. Trust in the dreams you hold, Fight to keep them alive.

To be great is not to float on,
Distant, above the rest.
It is the humble one,
Who moves in true greatness . . .

Flying high now ...

FROM DAY-CARE TO SUPERINTENDENT

The phone never stops ringing, yet Mrs. Reynolds handles it all with calm assurance. As our acting superintendent this school year, she is dealing with the district's "day to day" headaches, striving to work within a reduced budget, directing the district towards attainable goals, and reorganizing the school system.

While representing the district and defending the fundamental system, Mrs. Reynolds faces the issues. In doing so, we are very proud of her achievements. And she likewise still "holds a soft spot for Marshall."

Her goal for the district in the 78-79 school year is improving the educational quality of all grades. We wish her well in her looking after "the welfare of all students."

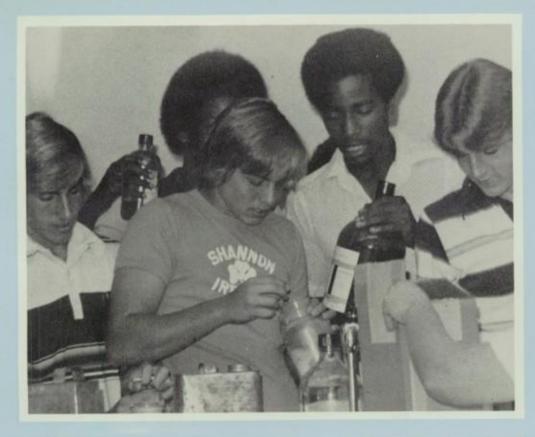

We, the editors, spent an enjoyable forty minutes interviewing our new acting superintendent and the best thing said was "you have nooo idea how my buttons pop when I see you do well!!"
